
TransUnion's Global Risk Appetite Statement

TransUnion takes a considered approach to risk decisions, and aims to balance risk and reward as we seek to optimize our experiences with consumers and customers. In doing so, we will manage risk in keeping with the risk framework, mitigate undue risks to a manageable level and maintain risk within established thresholds and in keeping with the principles of Information for Good[®] — unless formally accepted through appropriate governance.
